"Observer" Welcomes Class of '72

New Freshman Class Largest in History

The 1968 freshman class, the first under the new Higher Education Bill, will be the largest in the history of the college, according to William Munsey, Director of Admissions.

Approximately 325 freshmen, representing 95 high schools throughout the state of Maine, along with over 900 upperclassmen will start classes September 11. The freshman class represents a 22% increase in students over last year's entering class. Included within the class of '72 are 32 out-of-state students.

The total enrollment for the 1968-69 college year is also the largest in Gorham's history. In addition to the Freshman class, 110 transfer students will hike the total enrollment to over 1250 full-time students, an increase of about 110 over last year's total.

The some 435 new freshman and transfer students were chosen from 1270 applicants, Munsey stated.

Sports Schedule Announced

Gorham State's Athletic Director Richard Costello has announced the varsity soccer and cross-country schedules for the 1968 season.

The Cross Country team also opens at home, September 26, as they play host to S.M.V.T.I. The remainder of the schedule reads: October 1 at Lowell State; 5, at Keene State; 9, New England College, and U.M.P.; 12, at Plymouth State (Invitational Meet); 16, Maine Maritime Academy; 19, at Johnson State; 22, at Salem State; 25, St. Francis College; 29, Husson College; November 2, at N.E.S.C. S.E.A. News

Students will be interested to know that at the last meeting the MTA Executive Committee voted to cover all SEAM members with the Horace Mann liability insurance during the time they are doing practice teaching or student teaching. All students who are to be practice teaching, or student teaching, or participating in team teaching, will be covered for liability arising from their work in classroom or in the building or grounds with a policy insuring them against damage suits. This is up to $25,000. It does not cover criminal suits, as assault and battery, but does cover accidents for which the student teacher might be held liable.

This coverage, naturally, is only for members of SEAM. All students, especially seniors, should be informed of this in the fall during the membership drive of the local chapter.

Miss Jeanette Goodwin, Associate Professor of Education, is attending a Dance Division Executive Council meeting in Denver, Colorado, until Sept. 10. Miss Goodwin directs the Modern Dance group at Gorham and is secretary of the Eastern District of the American Association of Health, Physical Education, and Recreation.

The next issue of the "Observer" will be published Sept. 23. The deadline for all material is Monday, Sept. 16. No material after this date can be accepted.

Registration for sophomores in woman's physical education will be held Wed., Sept. 11, in the Hill Gymnasium from 8 a.m. to 12 noon and from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m.

New Phys Ed Faculty Named

Three new faculty have been named to the physical education department, President Kenneth Brooks has announced.

Miss Dorothea J. Vlahakos has been named as an instructor of woman's health and physical education. A native of Biddeford, Miss Vlahakos is a graduate of the University of New Hampshire in physical education and holds the M. A. degree in Spanish Literature from that institution. She has taught at the University of New Hampshire, Colby College, and comes to Gorham from Nasson College where she has been since 1967.

Joey Bouchard has been appointed assistant professor of physical education, and will coach soccer, baseball, and junior varsity basketball. Bouchard, 33, has been head basketball and soccer coach at Nasson College since 1963. In 1966-67 he served as a U.S. State Department basketball specialist to French West Africa and was a group leader for Operation Crossroads Africa in 1964. A native of Portland, he is a cum laude graduate of Springfield College where he received the M. Ed. degree in 1961. Bouchard fills a new position in the department and will handle coaching duties in soccer previously held by Dr. Richard Costello and in J.V. basketball and baseball previously coached by James Martin.

President Welcomes Frosh

Dear Gorham Stater:

In using the medium of the student newspaper to welcome you to your college I know that I speak for the entire student body when I bring you greetings and best wishes for a personally gratifying and academically rewarding experience during your years on "the Hill."

At Gorham we have endeavored to select a faculty composed of scholar-teachers, place them in an environment conducive to good education and provide them with a select group of students who, we hope, are anxious to learn. As such a student, the rest is up to you.

Avail yourself of all of the educational opportunities that Gorham presents. Enter into the total life of the college and you will make a significant contribution to Gorham's development as well as your own.

May you look back in June of 1972 with pride in the knowledge that you are a Gorham graduate.

Sincerely yours,
Kenneth T. H. Brooks
President

Student Newspaper Has Number of Changes

The "Observer" has undergone a number of significant changes since the 1968 college year ended last May.

The "Observer" will become a laboratory workshop and will be a product of the journalism class. However, entering freshmen and upperclassmen who are not taking Eng. 220 will still be afforded an opportunity to work on the newspaper. The journalism course itself has also been remodeled. The new Eng. 220 will entail three hours in the workshop, the "Observer", and one hour in the classroom.

The class will also have a new office in which to publish the college newspaper. The college yearbook, the "Hillcrest", and the "Observer" will both share the room across from the business office on the second floor in Corthell Hall.

Both offices will have their respective entrances, equipment, and supplies and will be separated by partitions.

In commenting on the new developments, Public Relations Director and advisor to both the "Hillcrest" and the "Observer" Reginald Bowden said "The student publications laboratory — office complex will give the "Hillcrest" and "Observer" facilities they have not had in the past. It is hoped that interested students will become more involved with publications through the addition of a workshop — newsroom in which journalism instruction will be held. We have brought the "Observer" out of the cellar and the "Hillcrest" out of the attic which is a tremendous morale factor."

Message From The Dean

It is my pleasure to welcome you to Gorham State College of the University of Maine. On this beautiful hilltop campus you will study under an able faculty prepared to explore with you the mysteries and challenges of increasingly rigorous curricula. Do not waste this opportunity to stretch your minds and to enlarge your intellectual horizons.

Most of you will be experiencing an independence of judgment and action not previously known. Therefore, learn early to plan your days and nights around a maximum effort on academic matters. To do otherwise could be an open invitation to disaster in January or June, 1969.

While academic affairs are paramount, you should not shun extra curricula activities. There are varsity and intramural athletics, concerts, fraternities, religious and social organizations, the Observer, Hillcrest and many other meaningful opportunities for social and cultural growth. According to your interests and abilities involvement to a reasonable degree is highly recommended.

We have a friendly campus and I know you will make many valued and lasting friendships among the faculty and student body. May the next four years truly be the most exciting and significant of your lives.

Robert M. York
Dean of Academic Affairs

Donnie Thomas will coach cross-country, track and intramural sports. He replaces Martin and will also teach freshman physical education. Thomas is a graduate of East Stroudsburg State College, Pa. and has taught and coached in high schools in Pennsylvania and New York. He holds an A. A. degree from Keystone Junior College and an M. Ed. degree from East Stroudsburg State.

The "Observer" welcomes letters from its readers, whether favorable or unfavorable. Letters should be brief and signed. The "Observer" reserves the right to edit all letters.

New Class Policy Goes Into Effect

A new attendance policy, the product of a Faculty-Student Senate Ad-Hoc Committee, will go into effect for Gorham students the opening day of classes Sept. 11. After many weeks of debate and discussion last spring, the seven member committee arrived at a policy which was accepted and passed by the faculty and the College council.

The new policy reads that class attendance is to be left up to the discretion of each respective faculty member. Each instructor is required to inform his class(es), the first day they meet, of his policy on attendance. The instructors' policy will then be kept on file in the Dean of Academic Affairs Office.

There had been some undercurrent of uncertainty on the old policy which seemed to be ambiguous and inconsistent in many areas. Many instructors did not inform each class, specifically, of their attendance policy but rather stated they "adhered to the present college policy on attendance".

The new policy requires specific definition of every instructors' policy whether it be unlimited cuts or no cuts.

Smith Named New Dean of Students

A 30-year-old Michigan State University official, Dr. Patrick B. Smith, has been appointed Dean of Students at Gorham State College, according to President Kenneth T. H. Brooks.

Smith replaces Maurice E. Littlefield, who has resigned to become an assistant to the Director of Development at the Orono campus of the University of Maine.

The new head of the Department of Student Personnel Services has been assistant director of the Student Activities Division of the Office of The Dean of Students at Michigan State since 1963.

He holds the B. A., M. A., and Ed. D. degrees from Michigan State and was a graduate resident advisor at that institution. Smith's responsibilities at Michigan State included the off-campus housing program, adviser to a number of student organizations and activities, and administrative representative to several university committees.

As a member of the Student Education Corps in 1963, Smith spent time in South America directing a student poverty project.

Smith is a member of the American Personnel and Guidance Association, Phi Delta Kappa, American College Personnel Association, National Association of Student Personnel Administrators, Delta Tau Delta Fraternity, and the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

At Gorham State, Smith will direct a department which includes the Offices of Dean of Men and Dean of Women, Registrar, Financial Aid, Admissions and Placement.

Smith, and his wife and child will live in Portland.

Notice

All students who signed up this past spring for the advanced placement U.S. History exam are reminded that the test will be given on Wednesday, September 11 at 5 p.m. in room 151.

Freshmen Begin Challenge

The college year 1968-69 will prove to be interesting to Gorham State students. This will be the first year of the Higher Education Act which merged the University of Maine and the five State Colleges. Many expectations and apprehensions are felt by all who are to be involved and affected by this law.

In addition to the merger, a presidential election is certain to make this college year an exciting one. In what has already been a year of surprises on the political scene, the November election and what will follow in the months and years to come will hopefully open up new avenues of promise for disenfranchised Americans.

Furthermore, for 324 Gorham freshmen this year marks the beginning of what will be four of the most interesting and significant years of their lives. Aside from being away from home and existing relatively "on one's own," the responsibilities and self-discipline each college freshman is called upon to accept will play a meaningful role in his future.

The student who enters college in 1968 and leaves in 1972 is assured of thinking, responding, and perceiving life in different terms. The academic, cultural, and social stimuli college students encounter is unique and removed from what one might expect to find anywhere else. Personal convictions, pride and confidence, and perhaps even dismal failure is expected to be fostered and experienced in college.

For most, the adjustment from high school to college will take time, yet will be met. Others will find the change too great and the challenges too much to master and will leave or will fail to meet the requirements. Whatever the case, the making or breaking of a college career is almost entirely dependent upon the individual.

The "Observer" formally welcomes the freshmen to Gorham State and it is our wish that the most be made of their four years in college.

American Youth 'Cop Out'

When American voters go to the polls in November to elect the 37th President of the United States, a small but significant segment of the voting population will be missing from the booths across the nation. The American youth (which includes anyone below that skeptical age of thirty) characteristically feel, and indeed have a right to feel, removed from voicing a preference in the electing of the most powerful man in the United States and perhaps in the world.

Circumstances, fate and an unalterable party machinery have obstructed possibilities of new faces, competent new faces, in top level politics. Rockefeller, learning a lesson that "he who hesitates is lost," could have gained the confidence of the young vote in the country as well as wooed many Democratic voters, something Nixon will fail to do. The Kennedy tragedy left the country numbed and without an opposition vote to the present inadequate administration of the Democrats. Democrats are above all other things sympathetic to McCarthy. The colorful senator's inexperience in both national and foreign affairs left the Democratic party with no real choice but Humphrey.

What appeared to be a wide open race in both parties on April 1, April Fools' Day, slowly developed and will result in a November choice between cut and dried politics of Republican conservatism and present Democratic administration endorsements.

Little wonder that college students and the young people of the country shout their cries of "alienation," and "generation gaps." One cannot debate the academic gap between young and old, nor can anyone argue who maintains the experience of life. However, what can be argued is the point that millions of conscientious and "give a damn" Americans have virtually no say in the nomination and election of an American president.

A direct primary would go a long way in alleviating this frustration. The lowering of the voting age would also appease the critics.

Whatever the alternative, it is certain that no cure-all will immediately be found to enable the bulk of uninfluential American citizens the right to elect "their" man to make America's magnanimous decisions. This right is reserved for one man.

The United States is fastly evolving into too large and complex a nation to allow a small handful of state "delegates" the absolute right of nominating two men who 80 million Americans will be forced to accept every four years.

We feel the country will indeed be electing the lesser of two evils in November.

NTE Test Dates Are Announced

College seniors preparing to teach school may take the National Teachers Examinations on any of the four different test dates announced by Educational Testing Service, a nonprofit, educational organization which prepares and administers this testing program.

New dates for the testing of prospective teachers are November 9, 1968, and February 1, April 12, and July 19, 1969. The tests will be given at nearly 500 locations throughout the United States, ETS said.

Results of the National Teacher Examinations are used by many large school districts as one of several factors in the selection of new teachers and by several states for certification or licensing of teachers. Some colleges also require all seniors preparing to teach to take the examinations.

On each full day of testing, prospective teachers may take the Common Examinations, which measure their professional preparation and general cultural background, and a Teaching Area Examination which measures mastery of the subject they expect to teach.

Prospective teachers should contact the school systems in which they seek employment, or their colleges, for specific advice on which examinations to take and on which dates they should be taken.

Over 300 In Evening College

The Gorham State College Evening College Division will start classes the week of September 9, according to Assistant Dean of Academic Affairs, William Wise. A total enrollment of over 375 puts the figure at its largest in this its eighth year of existence.

Over 300 evening college students have signed up in the 12 basic freshman and sophomore courses being offered. The most populace classes in this area are English Composition, History of Civilization, United States History, American School, and General Psychology.

NEWS BRIEFS

Graduate School

Anyone preparing himself for admission into graduate school should be sure that he has fulfilled all the requirements in advance. Among other things, many graduate schools now require scores from the Graduate Record Examinations. This test is offered on October 26 and December 14 in 1968 and on January 18, February 22, April 26, and July 12 in 1969. Individual applicants should be sure that they take the test in time to meet the deadlines of their intended graduate school or graduate department or fellowship granting agency.

Dormitories Named

The new wing to the Upton Hall Girls' Dormitory and Woodward Extension have been named for a long time Gorham faculty member and the retired Executive Director of Professional Services of the Maine State Department of Education.

Hastings Hall has been named for Miss Mary L. Hastings. Miss Hastings was a faculty member for 26 years at the college. At the time of her retirement in 1945, she was director of teacher training at Gorham.

Woodward Extension is now Anderson Hall. The dormitory is named for Hayden L.V. Anderson whose career in Maine Education spanned 40 years. A former student and later instructor at Gorham State, Anderson retired last year from the State Department and on May 17 was honored at a testimonial banquet at the college.

Trenton Students

The two Trenton State students who will attend Gorham State for this year are Donna Lemerich and Joan Frieder. The Gorham students who will be at Trenton are Judy Little and Mary Ann Walinchus. This is the fourth year of the Gorham — Trenton Exchange program.
